

ABSTRACT

The present invention relates to a rabbit skin containing biologically active substances. The rabbit skin is obtained by the process including vaccinating rabbit skin tissues with vaccinia virus, feeding rabbit vaccinated with vaccinia virus, killing the rabbit when its skin tissues is inflamed enough, and peeling the rabbit. The rabbit skin of the present invention can be used for preparing drugs and health foods.